The Objectives of the Conference:

The conference aims at emphasizing the overlapping areas between/among English language subjects. One cannot work on a certain branch apart from the others. It further aims at highlighting the needs for conducting multi-disciplinary research that go beyond the theoretical limits of linguistic and literary fields. Such a new orientation can be attributed to different reasons, such as:

- First, it basically reflects the unity between knowledge and techniques that needs to be embodied in the mission and vision of the college of education in general and the syllabi of the English Department in particular;
- Second, being a department of English language entitles staffs and curricula designers to reflect the homogeneity of the subjects being taught under this general branch;
- Third, the concept of multi-disciplinarity leads to novelty and creativity as ultimate results;
- Fourth, the results obtained from such studies will be more scientific and objective, since they reflect different perspectives from different fields of knowledge; and
- Fifth, it helps avoid replicating research, and move forward towards cross-boundary language areas.

Guidelines and Instructions for the Abstracts

Dear Presenter,

Participating in the forthcoming conference involves meeting the guidelines stated below:

- ♦ Writing the title in bold at the top center of the page with its major words being capitalized;
- ♦ Stating below the title the following information: the author's name, institution, academic degree, field of study and e-mail address;

- ♦ Typing the heading "Abstract" at the center, followed by one single space;
- ♦ Writing an informational abstract of no more than (100) words. The abstract should be comprehensive and concise. Accordingly, the researcher is recommended to start with an introduction followed by the main points and purpose of the paper. It should further include the research problem, objectives, research questions, method used in the analysis, results, and conclusions. Moreover, the researcher should indent the paragraph of the abstract;

- ♦ Typing the heading "Key Words:"-once you finish with the abstract-, followed by at least three key words;

- ♦ Typing the heading "Biography:"-once you finish with key words-, followed by 50 word information about each researcher-if there are more than one;

- ♦ Typing all what is required using Times New Roman font (12 size) with single-space;

- ♦ Submitting the abstract in a Microsoft doc. file ATTACHED to the department's e-mail address:

wedepartment@gmail.com

- ♦ Submitting-if needed-your 15 minute PowerPoint format.
